Abstract

The study of the issue of education within different chronological framework occupies an important place in Georgian historiography. Many research works have been created in this direction. However, due to the topicality and importance of the issue, the project research aims to study the influence of education on 1. the national liberation movement, 2. national identity, and 3. social rapprochement processes.

The aim of the work is to identify: 1. The factors that contributed to the urgency of the educational system; 2. The function of education, which was acquired in 1918-1921; 3. The role of education in strengthening national consciousness and drawing different social strata together 4. The measures were taken by the Georgian cultural and political elite for reviving the educational system 5. The factors proceeding in Russia and, in general, in Europe that had an impact on the struggle for development of the educational system; 6. The challenges of the epoch.
